

Scientist's DOOM - User Manual

Scientist's DOOM is a castle-defence action RPG game. The player's goal is to defend the castle in the middle of the map from incoming enemies, while staying alive himself. The player uses his abilities to damage enemies.

After launching the game with ScientistsDOOM.exe, the player will be presented with main menu, where he can find the Play button, which starts the game, and the exit button, which closes the application.

After hitting play, the help screen pops up. The help screen contains valuable information for newer players such as controls and introduction to the basic principles of the game as well as gameplay tips. The player may proceed to the character selection screen by hitting the Take Me In! Button. The help windows may be brought back by hitting the hotkey H.

In-game, the player can tweak settings in the settings windows under the hotkey Esc. It is highly recommended for players with low-end systems to lower the quality in settings for better performance.
